HISTORY & HIGHLIGHTS

The Harford Day community enthusiastically welcomed the school's first arts festival in November of 2002, with 50 artists from nine states exhibiting and selling their work to an appreciative audience. Arts Festival weekend included a gala Preview Party on Friday evening, and the show itself during the day on Saturday. With support of Harford Day parents, alumni, and friends, as well as the general public, the show was a great success in its first year.

There have been nine subsequent Arts Festivals, each building on the success of previous years. And, each show has been highlighted by a sold-out Preview Party that draws more than 300 people. Artists display their work at the show which is open to the general public on Saturday. The school community and the Arts Festival Committee are anticipating another great show in 2010.

GUIDELINES

All work must be original, presented by the creator and executed by hand or with appropriate tools. Participants must exhibit the type of work shown in their submitted images. The Director of the Arts Festival retains the right to ask the artist to remove works from booths which are inconsistent with the work in the application. Accepted work includes fine art, high quality fine crafts, limited edition prints (must be signed and numbered), and photography.
